

Air Quality: Science For Solutions

POSTPONED

NEW DATE

JUNE 18, 2020

Science for Solutions has been postponed due to the COVID-19 outbreak, which has placed travel and meeting restrictions on universities and institutions attending the conference. To prevent potential community spread at this time, the Science for Solutions conference is postponed until early summer.

Q: Why not host the meeting remotely?

A: The organizing committee believes that the networking and face-to-face interactions at Science for Solutions are invaluable, and those benefits associated with the conference would be lost in a remote meeting.

Q: If I cannot attend the conference on the new date but I already paid my registration fee, may I be refunded?

A: Yes! Please email jsohl@weber.edu to get reimbursed.

Q: If I already registered, will my registration be valid for the newly scheduled conference?

A: Yes! All current registrations will be honored in June.

Visit airqualityscience.org for more information, or email lexiewilson@utah.gov